Description

US Tariffs on Products from China

The US Trade Representative (USTR) recently announced a 25 percent increase on import tariffs for products from China that are classified in the Harmonized Tariff Schedule (HTS) and imported into the United States.

Customer Impact

Effective August 23, 2018, some Microsemi SoC Corp. products will be subject to this tariff and the tariff will be added to customer invoices for applicable products. See the following links for information:

- June 2018 USTR press release including links to HTS code lists: <https://ustr.gov/about-us/policy-offices/press-office/press-releases/2018/june/ustr-issues-tariffs-chinese-products>
- April 2018 USTR press release (Section 301): <https://ustr.gov/about-us/policy-offices/press-office/press-releases/2018/april/under-section-301-action-ustr>

Please note that as new HTS codes are added to the USTR lists, there could be additional Microsemi SoC Corp. products that are subject to these tariffs. For the most up-to-date information, see the following links:
